THE STRAITS TIMES | SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 2024

The Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/Aids' 95-95-95 targets for 2025 emphasise viral suppression among HIV patients, with 95 per cent of people living with HIV/Aids knowing their status, and 95 per cent of this group undergoing treatment. The third goal is for 95 per cent of people undergoing treatment to be virally suppressed.

THE DOCTOR IS

Law change to nudge more with HIV to get tested, treated

A key target is to have 95% of them knowing their status, up from current 85%

REDUCING STIGMA It is critical that we continue to work to reduce HIV-related stigma and discrimination at every level of society, through efforts to increase awareness and understanding, as well as encouraging individuals, organisations and the community at large to be more welcoming of all persons, regardless of HIV status.

DR WONG CHEN SEONG, director of the National HIV Programme at the National Centre for Infectious Diseases.

A recent law change that removes the requirement for some people stigma has been a key challenge to living with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) to disclose their condition to their sexual partsaid health experts.

This is because the amendment to the Infectious Diseases Act that start treatment, said Assistant Pro-

The Joint United Nations Prosise viral suppression among HIV local transmission thereafter." patients, with 95 per cent of people cent are on HIV treatment and, tested, which the legal amendment incentivises, said Assistant Professor Rayner Tan at the Saw Swee Hock School of Public Health. "The fact is that the first 95 (per cent) is the most important, and uptake of HIV testing passed in Parliament on March 7 is found that key populations vulnerlikely to encourage more individu- able to HIV have been fearful of als living with HIV to get tested and testing because of the current laws. "With the updated exemption, it fessor Dariusz Piotr Olszyna, di- incentivises people living with HIV rector of the HIV Programme at to stay on treatment and monitor

"If everyone did this, we can exgramme on HIV/Aids' (UNAids) pect zero HIV transmission and ze-95-95-95 targets for 2025 empharon ro new cases of HIV arising from MOH told The Straits Times that for Aids (AfA) to implement initia-HIV drugs were included in the getting people tested," he said.

This is a point recognised by the authorities: The 2023 National HIV ners, provided they maintain an Testing Recommendations state undetectable viral load, will help that the Republic needs to, in par-Singapore meet global targets to ticular, improve efforts to meet the end HIV as a public health threat, first UNAids target, and that more needs to be done to increase the living with HIV/Aids knowing their it aims to achieve the 95-95-95 tarstatus, and 95 per cent of this gets, and is working with partners group undergoing treatment. The such as the National Centre for Inthird goal is for 95 per cent of peofectious Diseases (NCID) and nonple undergoing treatment to be vi- governmental organisation Action Currently, 85 per cent of those tives that increase access to testing living with HIV here know they and care for people who test posision, the ministry said in response tember 2020 to lower the cost of public stigma of HIV is key.

Prof Tan noted his research the National University Hospital. their viral load regularly," he said.

Health (MOH). Of these, 94 per viral treatment more affordable.

tioner) clinics," added MOH. On what else needs to be done to among those on treatment, 94 per Standard Drug List and Medication tackle HIV transmission in Singa-work to reduce HIV-related stigma cent have achieved viral suppres- Assistance Fund scheme in Sep- pore, experts said overcoming and discrimination at every level of with HIV to come forward to be available at pilot sites, and rapid with HIV, and may discourage persons, regardless of HIV status," treatment and in continued HIV have the virus, said the Ministry of tive for HIV, and to make antiretro- HIV testing at GP (general practi- those at risk of infection from getting tested and diagnosed.

"It is critical that we continue to society, through efforts to increase spread of HIV. antiretroviral treatment, it noted. Dr Wong Chen Seong, director of awareness and understanding, as "We are lowering barriers to test-the National HIV Programme at well as encouraging individuals, meeting UNAids' 2025 targets is to ing through anonymous HIV test NCID, said discrimination is still a organisations and the community one fall foul of such laws results in get more people who may be living sites, making HIV self-testing kits pressing problem for people living at large to be more welcoming of all people putting off testing and

AfA president Roy Chan said laws that specifically criminalise have not been shown to reduce the

Instead, the prospect of prosecu-transmission in the community, he

Another UNAids target for 2025 dated nine months or less before age infected people to come forcountries to criminalise HIV non- have adhered to their medical reby better protecting their sexual

To benefit from the amended have maintained an undetectable viral load for at least six months.

This culminated in a court order on April 30, 2018, that the lawsuit would be dismissed unless the couple filed an affidavit to disclose the

Mr Ezekiel did not tell his clients about this, and failed to arrange for the couple to depose the required

On May 14, 2018, the couple's lawsuit was dismissed, and they were treatment during this time.

suppressed their viral load.

The law will continue to crimi- Secretary for Health Rahavu Mahlaw, which has yet to take effect, nalise HIV non-disclosure for peozam told Parliament during the depeople living with HIV will have to ple living with HIV who have not bate on the amendment. This is as the aim is not to relax jeaniau@sph.com.sg

They must also have test results public health safeguards against showing an undetectable viral load HIV transmission, but to encour-

Can people with an undetectable viral load spread HIV?

ST speaks to infectious disease experts on what the recent legal change means, and how Singapore is tackling HIV transmission.

Q What is an undetectable viral

A When a person is infected with HIV, the virus will replicate in his bloodstream and attack the immune system, said Dr Wong Chen Seong, director of the National HIV Programme at the National Centre for Infectious Diseases

By taking a blood sample, a doctor can find out how many copies of the virus there are per millilitre of blood. This measurement, called the viral load, lets people tacking the immune system, al- 2022, the World Health Organisa living with HIV and their doctors lowing the infected person to re- tion published guidelines that therapy is working.

A person who is not on treat- cations are taken orally every day. undetectable viral load cannot ment will have a viral load that There are medications adminis- transmit HIV through sex. ranges from thousands to hun-tered as long-acting injections, dreds of thousands of copies of but these are not suitable for the Q How much do viral load tests the virus per millilitre of blood. A majority of people living with cost? How often are they person who has been taking med- HIV, said Dr Wong. ications is expected to have a level tectable viral load.

Q How do HIV medications work? Are they subsidised? antiretroviral therapy, work by MediFund. preventing the human immunosaid Dr Wong.

If you have a question,

This prevents the virus from atdetermine how well antiretroviral turn to a good state of health.

poreans who cannot afford subsiter subsidies at NCID. A HIV medications, also known as dised medications can rely on versity Hospital, said that with Jean lau government financial assistance schemes in place, the clinic has no Singaporean patients who cannot access medications due to cost son living with HIV who has achieved and maintains an undetectable viral load - or less than 200 copies of the virus per millilitre of blood - does not transmit the virus to his sexual partner. Under the amended law, HIV patients must meet this require ment of less than 200 copies per millilitre of blood for at least six months, based on test results from a recognised laboratory, to be exempted from disclosure. They must also have test results fore they have sex, and they must have adhered to their medical treatment during this time.

at the Saw Swee Hock School of Public Health noted that in July recognised unequivocally that Currently, almost all HIV medi- people living with HIV with an

The most commonly used medi- A The cost for HIV viral load tests of virus so low that it is below the cations are subsidised and are on is subsidised for Singapore citithreshold of detection by labora- the Standardised Drug List main- zens and permanent residents, tory tests, also known as an unde-tained by the Ministry of Health. under the same framework of Singapore citizens and perma- healthcare financing assistance nent residents can use MediSave that covers other medical condito pay for the medications. Singations. Each test is around $140 af-

Assistant Professor Dariusz about twice a year, the same fredeficiency virus from replicating Piotr Olszyna, director of the HIV quency as their regular consultain the cells of the infected person, Programme at the National Unitions with their HIV doctors.

international studies have all shown that a person living with HIV who has achieved and maintains an undetectable viral load - o less than 200 copies of the virus per millilitre of blood does not transmit the virus to his sexual partner

Multiple large,

Lawyer struck off rolls for conduct that 'pointed to a character defect'

Senior Law Correspondent

director of a trading company, but ing the seizure of their assets. omitted to tell her that the firm was facing a US$1.6 million (S$2.2 milan was apparently not told about March 28, the Court of Three Judg- 2020 for ignoring his client's mes- ed to return to Malaysia. various court proceedings, and was es said Mr Ezekiel demonstrated "a sages for 14 months after he failed subsequently fined $25,000 for sustained pattern of offensive conto attend a crucial hearing. contempt of court.

band in a lawsuit to recover a loan. But he mishandled the lawsuit, which ultimately led to his clients A lawyer asked a former client if having to repurchase their own beshe was interested in becoming the longings at a public auction follow-pended from practice since 2019.

Separately, Mr Peter Ezekiel also defect", making him unfit to reacted for the woman and her hus- main a lawyer. The court is the highest disciplinary body for the legal profession. Mr Ezekiel, who was called to the Bar in May 1996, had been susrolls on Jan 24 over his misconduct ing the interests of one client over separate matters that took place petween 2016 and 2019.

The first was his involvement in ent, Ms Doan Thi Thanh Thuy, as a of US$1.6 million. director of fuel trading company Hang Huo Energy, and the events that followed.

Ms Thuy and her husband, Mr

Melvin Chung, had engaged Mr Ezekiel to act for them in an adop- Ms Thuy and others were then ortion matter in 2015. Thuy whether she would be interested in becoming a director of to act for Hang Huo in October $25,000 bond. Mr Ezekiel was struck off the three-year suspension for favour- claimed was a dormant company.

He said the firm needed to re-Mr Ezekiel assured Ms Thuy that A warrant of arrest was issued she would not face any liability as against Ms Thuy after she failed to and Mr Chung.

He knew Hang Huo had been sued by Malaysian company Horithe appointment of his former clizon Petroleum over an alleged debt

Instead of checking it himself, he relied only on Mr Lim's assertions that the case had been settled. Horizon obtained judgment against Hang Huo in February 2017. dered to attend court to be ques-In 2016, Mr Ezekiel asked Ms tioned on the company's finances. Mr Ezekiel, who was appointed

In April 2019, he was given a Hang Huo, which he falsely 2017, apparently failed to tell her about the proceedings. She failed to respond to the court in relation to the two sets of events. another. He was handed a further place another director, Mr Lim orders, which led Horizon to take viduals for the repayment of loans. In written grounds issued on two-year suspension in February Kian Boon, who purportedly need-out contempt proceedings against to the court and agreed to provide a to, apparently because Mr Ezekiel She was subsequently ordered to pay a $25,000 fine for contempt, had failed to tell his clients about failing which she had to spend 14 documents.

affidavit

in October 2018.

Ms Thuy's passport was also ordered to be impounded until the fine was paid Mr Ezekiel filed an application for Ms Thuy's passport to be returned to her temporarily, and for her to be allowed to travel to Vietnam for a period of up to 30 days. He gave a personal undertaking ordered to pay legal costs to the de-In the meantime, Mr Ezekiel was fendants engaged by Ms Thuy and Mr Chung Mr Ezekiel filed two further apin September 2017 to sue two indiplications, but this resulted in orders for additional costs against Lawyers for the defendants then The defendants filed a writ of asked for copies of certain docuseizure and sale, and assets bements that were listed by Ms Thuy duct which pointed to a character The striking-off was over two long as she did not sign any persoturn up in court on April 2, 2018. These requests were not acceded plaint, the Law Society brought four charges against Mr Ezekiel.

> ing to keep the couple informed of the progress of the suit. The court overturned the charge for failing to withdraw from repre> tial conflict of interest. This was in relation to the $25,000 bond that Mr Ezekiel agreed to post for the release of her sion to give a personal undertaking was "unwise", but found no potential conflict of interest. The court also advised lawyers to avoid giving an undertaking for matters beyond their control; law-

selinal@sph.com.sg

289 hauled up for suspected roles in scams where victims lost $9m partners, Senior Parliamentary

Ang Qing

A total of 289 people aged between 16 and 73 are under investigation for their suspected roles as scammers or money mules. The police said on March 29 that the 175 men and 114 women are thought to have been involved in scams where victims reportedly lost over $9 million. They were hauled up in a two-longing to the couple were seized week operation conducted from March 15 to 28 by officers from the After the couple lodged a com-Commercial Affairs Department

He was found guilty of all four charges by an independent disciplinary tribunal, which found that the case was serious enough for him to be punished by the court. The court upheld three charges one for failing to disclose information to Ms Thuy, one for failing to act with diligence and competence in the couple's suit, and one for fail-senting Ms Thuy despite a poten-

The court said Mr Ezekiel's deci-initiative to create awareness and alert people to how they can protect themselves.

and the seven police land divi-

The over 1,400 cases mainly involved investment scams, e-commerce scams, job scams, governscams and phishing scams. for the alleged offences of cheating, money laundering or providing payment services without a li-face a jail term of up to 10 years and a fine. Those convicted of money laundering can be jailed for a maxicence, the police said.

of up to three years, or both. an accomplice to crimes, members of the public should always reject requests by others to use your bank account or mobile lines, as you will be held accounment official impersonation table if these are linked to crimes." For more information on scams, The suspects are under probe members of the public can visit scamalert.sg or call the anti-scam helpline on 1800-722-6688. Those with information about such scams can contact the police Those found guilty of cheating on 1800-255-0000 or submit it online at www.police.gov.sg/ iwitness mum of 10 years, receive a fine of

Meanwhile, the offence of carrying out unlicensed payment services carries a fine of up to $125,000, an imprisonment term

The police said: "To avoid being up to $500,000, or both.

aqing@sph.com.sg

9 probed over tech support scams involving fake Apple, Microsoft staff

Nine people aged between 32 and had been compromised. 57 are under investigation for their suspected involvement in technitact numbers of fake tech support time passwords to authorise online cal support scams, through which employees, who would trick the banking transactions. victims have lost at least $6.7 mil-victims into granting them remote

The police said in a statement on March 29 that eight men and one deceit, the call would be forwarded deductions made from their bank woman are believed to be involved to another scammer claiming to be accounts. in a ruse in which scammers im- a law enforcement officer, who personated Microsoft or Apple would use the remote access func- vealed that most of the suspects ter an anti-scam enforcement op- through a scam website. Subseeration between March 25 and 28 quently, the scammers would di-said that involved officers from the rect the victims to log in to their One suspect had allegedly re- For more information on scams, Commercial Affairs Department iBanking account on the pretext of ceived money in his bank account please visit scamalert.sg or call the Since January, the police have re-ers." ceived at least 78 reports of such Once the victims logged in to purportedly to meet the minimum about such scams can contact the technical support scams.

These alerts contained the con- cryptocurrency accounts or oneaccess to their devices.

tion and pretend to help victims had allegedly facilitated the scams The suspects were hauled up af- lodge a fraudulent police report by receiving money reportedly for • Report the incident to the bank and the seven police land divisions. helping to apprehend the 'hack- and transferred the sum to his anti-scam helpline on 1800-722-

Victims received pop-up mes- would use remote access to trans- withdrawal. sages on their laptops or desktops fer money out of the account. claiming their electronic devices In some cases, the scammers manage to withdraw his money Ang Qing would even guide victims to create In these cases, victims realised they had been scammed when

The police said: "To reinforce the they saw unauthorised transfers or

Preliminary investigations recryptocurrency trading, the police cryptocurrency trading account, 6688. Those with information their bank account, the scammers sum in his trading account for police on 1800-255-0000 or sub-

The person, however, did not iwitness from the trading account. The police advised the public to do the following if they believe they have been scammed:

 Switch off the computer immediately to limit the scammer's further actions. Uninstall any software that has been installed on the scammers' instructions. Perform a full antivirus scan on the computer and delete any malware detected. • Report the incident to the bank to stop further activities relating to bank accounts credentials and remove any mit it online at www.police.gov.sg/

Q Can those with an undetectable viral load spread HIV? A Multiple large, international studies have all shown that a pershowing an undetectable viral load dated nine months or less be-

Assistant Professor Rayner Tan

People living with HIV are expected to undergo these tests

104 fall prey to scams offering discounted goods on social media

At least 104 victims have fallen prey to scams involving social media advertisements since January, with losses amounting to over $63,000.

The police said in a statement on March 28 that these scams would feature promotions for heavily discounted goods on social media platforms such as Instagram, Facebook and TikTok. Enticed by the prices, victims would be directed to fraudulent websites that ask for information such as their bank card details and one-time passwords in order to check out the items they had "purchased". They would realise they had been scammed only after discovering unauthorised transactions not matching their intended purchases charged to their cards. In some cases, these transactions were made in foreign currencies such as US dollars or Anyone with information about such crimes can call the police hotline on 1800-255-0000 or submit it online at www.police.gov.sg/iwitness The public can also visit www.scamalert.sg or call the anti-scam helpline on 1800-722-6688 for more information on scams.

Australian dollars.

Amount that the victims lost.

At the courts • Maid jailed for punching, slapping 101-year-old woman under her care | Al4

Scoot • Airline to boost flights to Tokyo,

Seoul, Taipei | Al5

new heritage trail.

str.sg/changi-heritage

yers may face disciplinary action for breaches of the undertaking, even if the breach was caused by a third party.